patience of that large portion of the audience (always an abused majority) that is more anxious to see the dramatic integrity and continuity of a performance preserved than to hear an ear-tickling song repeated.

In Mr. Duff's company there are several old friends of the operetta-going public. Mr. Edwin A. Stevens is the Mikado, Mr. Joseph Herbert the Ko-Ko and Mark Smith, the Poo-Bah. That they all furnished touch and go jocularity in plenty neel scarcely be said. Of the women players, Miss Lilians Swain, by her intelligence and archness, cashly carried off the palm as Pitti-Sing, aided partiy, it may be said, as against the representative of Tum-Yum, Miss D. Eloise Morgan, by the circumstance that she manifested less affectation as a singer. Miss Morgan, we believe, has studied abroad. It would have been amusing to say the past, could the comment of Madam Marchesi be heard on such a squeak in altissimo as she gave out in the first act.

MISS ANNA A. MORSS'S WILL.

BEQUESTS TO FRIENDS AND RELATIVES THE RESIDUE TO A PRESENTERIAN BOARD.

The will of Annie A. Moras, which was executed on October 1, 1892, was filed for probate yesterday in the office of the Surrogate by Arnoux, Ritch & Woodford. The executors appointed under the will are Robert M. Olyphant, ex-Judge William H. Ar-poux and John R. MacArthur. The testatrix makes a number of bequests to relatives and friends, and also to persons in her employ, as rollows: To Willam H. Arnoux, all her real estate in Westchester upon condition that he shall pay therefor 5,000 to Robert M. Olyphant, $22,000 to Talbot Olyphant, $25,000 to Mary L. Olyphant, $25,000 to William phant $2,000 to Mary L. Olyphant, $2,000 to William H. Arnoux, $6,000 in trust for Heiene Augusta Arnoux, and to Pauline Arnoux MacArthur, the wife of John R. MacArthur, $6,000. The testatrix gives to Mary L. Olyphant all her wearing apparel, books, pictures, silverware, articles of vertu, ornaments, having confidence that she will distribute them according to her wishes.

The residue of the estate is bequeathed to the Presbyterian Board of Relief for Disabled Ministers and the Widows and Orphans of Deceased Ministers, or to the treasurer, for the uses and purposes of the society.

Here solid rock was found within a couple of feet or so of the surface, and a dozen steam drills have been in use Whenever a blast is to be set off, men with danger signals stand at the corners of the street, others are posted along the line to shout warnings to approaching pedestrians. These guards yell, "Hi, there! Hi, there!" and then all the laborers scramble from the pit and seek safety in flight. After the explosion the men return to their work. For several days the men have been scared from the trench by frequent false alarms. "Hi, there!

THE SUGAR TRUST AND ITS METHODS.

ON A PAR WITH POLICE CORRUPTION. From The Springfield Republican.

Contributions made to political parties through campaign funds to secure the favor of the party in power are not on a perceptibly higher plane than corrupt gifts to intermediaries to secure places on the police force of New-York City. The element of bribery is present in both transactions, and is not much disguised in either.

NEWSPAPER MEN SAFER TO HANDLE. From The Utica Herald.

President Havemeyer told the Sugar Scandal Committee it was none of its business how much the trust contributed to political campaign committees. The committee viewed the matter in the same light, and excused the witness hurriedly, as though afraid he would change his mind. It is eafer to put a mere newspaper correspondent in fall than to extort from Havemeyer half he knows about the matter the committee is alleged to be inquiring about.

NOT LIKELY TO WIN CONFIDENCE. From The Baltimore Sun.

Mr. Havemeyer's frank admission of the policy pursued by his company will not increase the public confidence in the gigantic monopoly he represents. The sconer such a combination is shorn of the power to pervert political parties and to degrade American politics the better it will be for the country.

CAUSE AND EFFECT PLAINLY SHOWN. From The Philadelphia Press.

From The Philadelphia Press.

The links are all forged in the chain of proof. Corrupt election contributions, too large to be laid bare, were made by the trust in 1892. The Democratic House, the Democratic Secretary of the Treasury and the Democratic party were all for free augar in December. Mr. Havemeyer, who made these contributions, came to Washington. He had influence enough to change Mr. Carlisle's view, expressed in December. He converted the Democratic Senators on the Finance Committee. Secretary Carlisle drew the schedule which suited the trust. It was adopted by the Democratic Committee and by the Democratic Senate.

THEY MUST HAVE BEEN STRIKING.

From The Troy Times. If only verbal arguments have been used to influence the Democratic majority, the Senators have shown a remarkable susceptibility and willingness to be persuaded into putting $50,000,000 into the pockets of the Sugar Trust.

From The New-York Herald. Why anybody engaged in any legitimate business should pay for "police protection and fire protection" in the form of a political contribution is not apparent, and Mr. Havemeyer's statement that "every individual, corporation and firm do these things" will doubtless be news to most of the business men and houses in this city.

MR. CROKER AND HIS CLUBS.

HE RECENTLY JOINED THE DEMOCRATIC CLUB.

ONLY ABOUT TWO WEEKS AGO HE PAID HIS IN

Inquiry caused by Mr. Croker's resignation from the Manhattan Club brought out the fact yesterday that only a month ago he applied for me

Mugwumps, or as they have been more recently known, the Cleveland Cuckoos. Mr. Fox, for presi dent, defeated William E. Curtis, Mr. Cleveland's Assistant Secretary of the Treasury, and his success was generally referred to as a defeat for the National Administration and a victory for its opponents in the club.

Mr. Croker's recent application and admission to the Democratic Club was a surprise to most politi-cians, who heard of it last evening, and some members of the club did not know it until so informed by reporters. It was construed by most people as additional evidence that Mr. Croker's decision to go abroad was most recent, and was corroborative of the series of facts presented by The Tribune showing that before one week ago yesterday he had not thought of leaving the country. HIS RESIGNATION FROM THE MANHATTAN.

It was expected that Mr. Croker's resignation from the Manhattan Club would be acted upon last Managers, but there was no meeting, a quorum falling to appear. Prominent members of the club ing to appear. Prominent members of the club said that the acceptance of the resignation was a matter of course, and that there was no doubt about its being accepted when the governors got together. Richard Croker's resignation from the Manhattan Club gave politicians a fresh and interesting topic yesterday. Tammany men explained that it was in line with all of Mr. Croker's recent declarations of a settled purpose to get out of politics and all political associations. Commissioner Daily, of the Department of Public Works, who pernaps comes the hearest of all the ex-buse's friends to sharing his immost thoughts, said yesterday that there was nothing surprising in Mr. Croker's action. "He never has been a clubman in any sense, anyway," said Mr. Daily, "and it was only matural that he should sever his connection with the Manhattan Ciub. He never went there—at least only on rare occasions—and now that he is out of positics, there is mothing whatever to call him there."

Mr. Croker had paid his club dues up to March 15, abd consequently there was apparently no need for the haste he showed requesting that his name should be stricken from the rolls. His letter to Fresteric R. Coudert, president of the club, giving his resignation, was written on Friday, June 8, after he had made up his mined to sai the next morning on the Umbria.

A suggestion was made yesterday that it may have a been done to prevent any possible action by the cub should the lexow Committee come into the said that the acceptance of the resignation was a

The couple went by train to Peiham-ville, where they were married, and then returned to the groom's house in Vonkers.

His daughter's action so enraged Mr. Underhill that he threatened to dissown her. POWDERLY'S DEFENCE PUBLISHED.

Philadelphia, June 14.-Terence V. Powderly, ex-Jeneral Master Workman of the Knights of Labor. and A. W. Wright, ex-member of the General Ex-ecutive Board, have issued and distributed amond the members of the order a pamphlet answering and denying in detail the charges brought against them by the present executive officers of the them by the present executive officers of the minimally go of the toward to Mr. The fear that at New-Orleans the past General Master Workman might be present is the real cause of my suspension, and it is as well that the whole order should know it. It is a conviction with me that the intention is to disrupt the order, disgust its membership, drive true men and women out of it, and then its valuable property will fall to those who remain. There can be no other reason assigned for such a suicidal policy as we are now witnessing.
